Who would have thought that the reason why some men and women attract other women and men more than the rest had something to do with the certain chemicals called pheromones our body releases. These chemicals are something that we release through the body in the amount we release the more sexually desirable we appear. The reason being once we release the pheromones they travel undetected through the nose of our 'could be' companion and trigger in their mind a subconscious feeling that translates into increased sexual responses.

This Determines How Attractive You are to Your 'Could be' Partner

Your clothes, cologne and looks maybe important but they are secondary when compared to these chemicals. This is what explains those off days and nights when nothing seems to be going right and those other days when you seem to hit a bit of a lean patch. It all has to do with the amount of this chemical you are releasing through your skin.
